As part of a national event, Charlottesville is one of dozens of cities hosting screenings of the documentary of Fixing the Future, where host David Brancaccio (of public radio's Marketplace and NOW on PBS) visits people across America that are attempting a revolution: the reinvention of the American economy. Featuring communities using innovative approaches to create jobs and build sustainability, Fixing the Future inspires hope and renewal in tough economic times.

Join us for an exclusive on-screen panel discussion after the movie, followed by tips from Cville TimeBank, Transition Charlottesville, and Better World Betty on what YOU can do to fix the future in Charlottesville!
